

Stanford University
Center for Russian, East European & Eurasian Studies (CREEES)
2010 CREEES Summer Travel and Research Grants for Graduate Students
APPLICATION

The Center for Russian, East European & Eurasian Studies can offer up to $2,000 support for research travel in Russia, East and Central Europe, the Caucasus, or Central Asia.

The deadline for applications is March 1, 2010.

CREEES Grant Eligibility

- Students should be enrolled in a graduate program at Stanford and plan to continue their studies in the following academic year.

Students should be focusing in their research on Russia, East and Central Europe, the Caucasus, or Central Asia.

The CREEES grant does not prohibit a student from receiving another fellowship during the grant award period, but students are prohibited from charging fellowship funds for the same travel expenses. For example, the CREEES travel and research grant will not pay for airfare if the other funding source covers the student's same expenses. A CREEES travel and research grant will not be awarded to a student who is receiving sufficient support from another funding source.

Applicants must submit the following:

- 1) APPLICATION FORM
- 2) STATEMENT OF PURPOSE (a 1-2 page statement of purpose outlining your research objective and how the proposed project fits into your long-term research agenda)
- 3) LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION FROM STANFORD ADVISOR (use attached form or have the advisor send the recommendation in the body of an email message to creeesinfo@stanford.edu)
- 4) COPY OF LATEST TRANSCRIPT (downloaded from Axess and sent as an email attachment)
- 5) BUDGET (transportation, lodging, food, research expenses)
- 6) GRANT RECIPIENTS ARE REQUIRED TO SUBMIT SUMMER RESEARCH REPORTS UPON COMPLETION OF THE SUMMER RESEARCH.
